Back to Life

I remember the day my soul fell and held its breath

And still to this day I haven't exhaled yet

I can't seem to find a way to get my feet back on the ground.

Or reason to carry on, there's no turning this thing around.... (there's no safe and sound)

I'm just trying to find a way, back to life

Inside, there's nothing left of me, I recognise

All I hear are the things I left unsaid

They're haunting me now, living out loud in my head

I'm sure somehow you can hear me from wherever you are right now

But left down here without you, I can't seem to figure out ... (or get my head around)

I'm just trying to find a way, back to life

Inside, there's nothing left of me, I recognise

I'm just trying to find a way, back to life

Inside, I've all but disappeared, you wouldn't recognise

When I, only ever felt alive

Standing by your side,

Tell me how do I?

When now you're gone it's hard to be at all
