If It's All the Same

I know I've said it before

To get through to you

Yet despite all the times I tried

You always knew better

Did what you want to

You've made a big mistake this time

You would never listen to me

So don't say I didn't warn you

It's too late to turn back now

If it's all the same to destiny

While you playing make believe

You wished it all, and pissed it all away

No matter how many times

And all we've been through

For you to do this now

You would never listen to me

So don't say I didn't warn you

It's too late to turn back now

This ain't a love song or fairy tale

It's a crying shame it won't end well.
